

To: All MLB Employees

Subject: Temporary Freeze of Travel and Associated Expenses

Dear MLB Team Members:

Major League Baseball has established a temporary ban on all travel expenses together with its associated costs, which will start immediately and last through the end of Q4. The decision to freeze travel expenses is directed by Chief Financial Officer Ed Webber. This measure is implemented to achieve year-end budget targets and maintain organizational efficiency.

The financial situation of the organization remains stable, and this initiative serves only to maintain our existing budget targets. I would like to emphasize that this initiative does not indicate financial challenges. The chief financial officer maintains full authority to approve any requests for policy exceptions.

The current travel restrictions will be evaluated and reassessed on Jan. 1, 2026, before making any changes to the policy.

Best,

Rob Manfred

Commissioner

(124 words)

###